Catfight Magazine, Anattitude Magazine and We B*Girlz proudly present the 10-days exhibition
"Hip Hop Ladies with Attitude - Jammin' Fresh & Def" during the one-month female Hip Hop festival "We B*Girlz".

After publishing magazines for several years we feel it's time to present the rich and previously unreleased history of female Hip Hop in general and female graffiti in particular to the public.

Women in Hip Hop history

Numerous women have been involved since the early days of Hip Hop. A timeline will demonstrate the role of women in rap, graffiti, breakdance and DJing and will also show how women influenced fashion, photography and film in the last 30 years.

Women in graffiti

Female graffiti artists have been part of the scene since the birth of graffiti. In the exhibition we are showing series of portraits of outstanding female graffiti artists to visualise the presence of female writers. A female graffiti timeline will present female activities in the Hip Hop scene from the 70's until now.

Martha Cooper

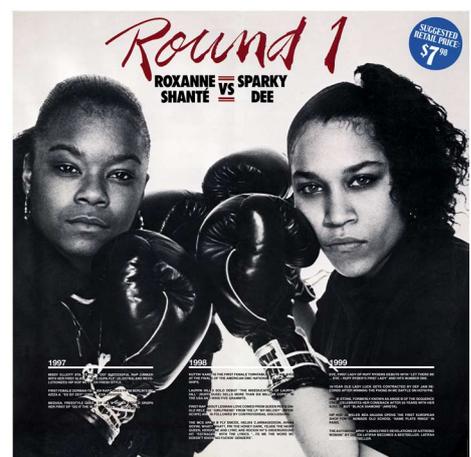

We will also show a retrospective of Martha Cooper's photographic work of the last 50 years.

Women in Hip Hop - library & jukebox

Our large international "Women in Hip Hop" library gives you the chance to boost your Hip Hop knowledge by exploring the history and theory of ladies in the scene during the last 30 years. The visitor will also be able to check our selection of female Hip Hop videos and rap audio tracks - the ones you love and the ones you have never heard of before.

The visitors of the expo are welcome to have a coffee - this is going to be the main chill-out area during the last week of the We B*Girlz festival, intended to create a space where visitors and festival artists can meet to talk, network, exchange experiences, do interviews, read and relax. During the expo mixtapes of contemporary female Hip Hop DJs from around the world will be played. And to top it off, we'll have a shop with books, mixtapes, and the coolest female Hip Hop head clothes brought to you by the ladies of kandie shop from Hamburg.

In a knockout system female writers will battle each other and show their skills. It's all about form and style in these battles – no fill-ins – only the outlines will be judged. The disciplines in the battle are i.e.: Tags, Alphabet, Throw Up, One-liner, Single Letters, Connection of Two Letters, Blind Writing. The contestants are also the jury, because they are the experts themselves. Remember: It's about quality not about being friends or foes! All graffgirls are welcome to sign up for the battle through www.b-girlz-berlin.com (location: outside the Tacheles)

28.08.08 - Bookrelease of Martha Coopers' latest book "Tag Town" by Dokument Förlag

20:00 till the breakadawn
booksigning Martha Cooper 20:00 - 21:00
Bookrelease Party with DJs That Fucking Sara (Berlin) and Purita D (NL) (location: Blauer Salon, Tacheles)

And don't forget - during the whole exhibition you can exchange tapes in the tapebox by kandie shop!!!

Back in the days, when everybody was still listening to music out of a ghettablaster, didn't we all have our favourite tapes, made by ourself, a friend or lover.. mostly made with lots of love... well some of us still do. Make sure you bring your favourite tape or a copy of it and exchange it in the tapebox.

Jeannette Petri - Anattitude Magazine

Jeannette Petri studied art with the main focus on photography and video. Since 2000, she earned several international art scholarships and had many exhibitions. Driven by her interest in female Hip Hop and gender from 2000 on, she has documented and published the comprehensive female Hip Hop history reader "Here's a little story that must be told" and she is the author of the "Women in Hip Hop Timeline", which was published in several books. Since 2005, she is the producer, editor and publisher of the all-female Hip Hop magazine Anattitude, the first international female Hip Hop magazine on print to present contemporary female Hip Hop activities in all classic genres: DJing, graffiti, rap, b-girling but also female Hip Hop history, fashion, photography and film. Created as an antidote to the single sided and boring representation of contemporary female Hip Hop, Anattitude Magazine presents strong independent women from around the Hip Hop world with a special focus on a variety of gender styles. Apart from that, she is spinning the wheels of steel as Hip Hop DJ Jee-Nice.

Nika Kramer - We B*Girlz

Nika Kramer, writer, translator and event organizer, was the text editor and German translator of "Hip Hop Files: Photographs 1979-1984" (From Here to Fame, 2004) and the author of "We B*Girlz" (powerHouse Books, 2005). She is the producer/director and first camera of the documentary film "Redder than Red - The Story of B-Girl Bubbles". Together with Martha Cooper she created We B*Girlz Productionz, with the idea to build a network for women in Hip Hop and support and document the scene. She is also the organizer of the annual We B*Girlz Battle at the international Battle of the Year. She is the organizer of the We B*Girlz Festival in Berlin 2008.
